

INTRODUCTION TO THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE HUMAN PERSON

ACADEMIC

Grade 11/12

Curriculum Guide

Introduction to the Philosophy of Human Person

Pre-requisite: None

Course Description:

This subject introduces the nature of philosophy as a way of thinking by exploring key philosophical questions and topics about the human person. Learners develop critical thinking, problem-solving, reflective thinking, and decision-making skills, enabling them to gain a deeper understanding of the human person and their relationships with others in the world, and promote human and social flourishing.

Elective: Academic

Time Allotment: 80 hours for one term

| Content Standard:                                                              | Learners demonstrate understanding of the nature, importance, and ways of doing Philosophy.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |         |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| Performance Standard:                                                          | Learners apply philosophical analysis, abstraction, and reflection to articulate the meaning of real-life experiences.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |         |
| Learning Competencies                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | Content |
| Introduction to Philosophy                                                     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |         |
| 1. Recognize the value of understanding the nature and importance of doing Philosophy | Defining Philosophy <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Western and Eastern Beginnings of Doing Philosophy</li><li>• Branches of Philosophy</li><li>• Importance of Philosophy</li></ul>                                                                                                                                                                 |         |
| 2. Recognize the importance of analyzing the ways of doing Philosophy                 | Doing Philosophy <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Differentiating Truth and Opinion</li><li>• Differentiating Scientific or Factual Truth from Philosophical Truth</li></ul> Ways of Doing Philosophy <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Philosophical Analysis</li><li>• Philosophical Abstraction</li><li>• Philosophical Reflection</li></ul> |         |

| Content Standard:                                                                                                                                                          | Learners demonstrate ways of doing Philosophy on the Human Person as an embodied being in the world, with and for others, toward human and social flourishing.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |         |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| Performance Standard:                                                                                                                                                      | Learners initiate a project that promotes human and social flourishing.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |         |
| Learning Competencies                                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | Content |
| Philosophy of the Human Person                                                                                                                                             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |         |
| Recognize the importance of applying the ways of doing Philosophy on the Human Person as an embodied being in the world, with and for others, toward human and social flourishing | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. The Human Person as Embodied Being in the World (zoon logon, pagkatao)               <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Personhood                   <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Rationality (from awareness to creative rationality)</li> <li>• Freedom (from choosing to creating)</li> </ul> </li> <li>b. Human Personhood                   <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Embodiment</li> <li>• Being in the Natural World (dweller and consumer)</li> </ul> </li> </ol> </li> <li>2. The Human Person as Being With and for Others (zoon politikon, pagkamakatao)               <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Interpersonal Relationships</li> <li>b. Institutional Relationships (economic, political, cultural)</li> </ol> </li> <li>3. The Meaning of Human Personhood               <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Human Flourishing as Reason for Being                   <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• What Human Flourishing                       <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Why Human Persons Flourish</li> </ul> </li> </ul> </li> <li>b. Human Person as Agent of Social Transformation                   <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Philosophies of Education on Human Flourishing</li> <li>• The Filipino as a Thinker, Learner, and Social Change Agent</li> </ul> </li> </ol> </li> </ol> |         |

GLOSSARY

Branches of Philosophy – The major areas of philosophical inquiry, including metaphysics, epistemology, ethics, logic, and aesthetics.

Eastern Philosophy – A broad set of philosophical traditions from Asia, including Confucianism, Taoism, Buddhism, and Hinduism, emphasizing harmony, spirituality, and ethics.

Embodiment – The idea that human existence is experienced through a physical body, influencing perception, interaction, and identity.

Freedom – The capacity to make choices, ranging from selecting among given options to actively creating new possibilities.

Human Flourishing – The fulfillment of human potential through personal growth, ethical living, and meaningful contributions to society.

Human Personhood – The unique qualities that define a human as a thinking, feeling, and acting being with moral and social dimensions.

Importance of Philosophy – The significance of philosophy in developing critical thinking, understanding different perspectives, and addressing life's fundamental questions.

Institutional Relationships – Human connections within structured systems, including economic (work and trade), political (governance and law), and cultural (tradition and values) frameworks.

Interpersonal Relationships – The connections and interactions between individuals, based on communication, emotions, and mutual influence.

Opinion – A personal belief or viewpoint that may not necessarily be based on verified facts.

Pagkamakatao – A Filipino term referring to a deep sense of humanity, compassion, and ethical responsibility towards others.

Pagkatao – A Filipino term referring to human nature, identity, and moral character.

Personhood – The state or quality of being a person, encompassing consciousness, self-awareness, and moral responsibility.

Philosophy – The study of fundamental questions about existence, knowledge, values, reason, mind, and language.

Philosophical Abstraction – The process of thinking beyond concrete experiences to consider general principles and ideas.

Philosophical Analysis – The method of examining concepts, arguments, and theories to clarify their meanings and implications.

Philosophical Reflection – The act of deeply thinking about fundamental issues, questioning assumptions, and seeking meaning.

Philosophical Truth – The truth that is explored through reasoning, argumentation, and critical thinking, rather than empirical verification.

Rationality – The ability to think logically and critically, progressing from basic awareness to creative and innovative thinking.

Reason for Being – The purpose or ultimate goal of human existence, often linked to personal and collective well-being.

Scientific or Factual Truth – The truth that is based on empirical evidence, observation, and logical reasoning, often tested through the scientific method.

Truth – A statement or belief that aligns with reality and is supported by evidence and reasoning.

Western Philosophy – A tradition of philosophy originating in ancient Greece, focusing on logic, reason, and systematic questioning.

Zoon Logon – A Greek term meaning "rational animal," highlighting the human capacity for reason and speech.

Zoon Politikon – Aristotle's concept of humans as "political animals," emphasizing the necessity of social relationships.

REFERENCES

Alejo, Albert E. Tao Po! Tuloy!: Isang Landas ng Pag-Unawa sa Loob ng Tao. Quezon City: Ateneo de Manila University Press, 2023

Bonifacio, Armando (1980). Three Concepts of Philosophy. In Celeste E. Botor, Philippine Philosophy of Education (1980). Quezon City, Philippines: Philosophy of Education Philippine Society of the Philippines. pp.30-47.

Buenaflor, Lionel E., et al. Unraveling the Absolute Moral Principle: Ethics for Filipino Students. Mandaluyong City: Books Atbp. Publishing Corp., 2018

Buenaflor, Lionel E., The Art of Critical Thinking: Logic for Filipino Students. 4th ed. Mandaluyong City: Books Atbp. Publishing Corp., 2019.

Buenaflor, Lionel E., Understanding the Human Person: Introduction to the Philosophy of Persons for Senior High School Students. Revised ed. Mandaluyong City: Books Atbp. Publishing Corp., 2019.

Calano, Mark Joseph. "Ang Pilosopiya at si Roque J. Ferriols, SJ," Perspectives in the Arts and Humanities Asia 5, no. 1, article 1 (2015), <https://archium.ateneo.edu/paha/vol5/iss1/1>.

Clemente, Noel L. "Ilang Katagang Filipino bilang Bukal ng Pamimilosopiya," Kritike: An Online Journal of Philosophy 12, no. 2 (January 2018): 65-80, https://kritike.org/journal/issu.e\_23/clemente\_december2018.pdf.

Cottingham, John G., ed. Western philosophy: An anthology. John Wiley & Sons, 2021.

Demeterio III, Feorillo P. Explorations in Filipino Philosophy. Manila: De La Salle University Publishing House, 2021

Elicor, Peter Paul E. "Are Filipino Children Too Young to Do Philosophy?" Kritike: An Online Journal of Philosophy, vol. 18, no. 1 (March 2024): 66-87, https://www.kritike.org/journal/issue\_34/elicor\_march2024.pdf.

Hartono, Rudi, Ida Bagus Putu Arnyana, and Nyoman Dantes. "Analysis of Basic Education policies are based on philosophical, sociological, political and economic foundations." International Journal of Contemporary Studies in Education (IJ-CSE) 2, no. 2 (2023): 100-106.<https://doi.org/10.1017/CCO9781139047289.002>

https://www.researchgate.net/profile/Otto-Dennis-2/publication/377555363\_THE\_BRANCHES\_OF\_PHILOSOPHY/links/65ca59eb34bbff5ba70c1b6b/THE-BRANCHES-OF-PHILOSOPHY.pdf

Ibana, Rainier R.A. "On the Social Nature of Existence, PHAVISMINDA Journal vol. 2 (May 1998): 15-21,
https://img1.wsimg.com/blobby/go/028b0f1b-224c-45f2-944a-0a4e4bbf7b2b/downloads/1cht6dm53\_507921.pdf

Lawhead, William F. The Voyage of Discovery: A Historical Introduction to Philosophy. 4th ed., Cengage Learning, 2015.

Mabaquiao, Napoleon M. Jr. "Ang Metapisika at Etika ng Pakikipagkapwa-tao," Malay 30 no. 2 (2018): 20-36, <https://www.dlsu.edu.ph/wp-content/uploads/pdf/research/journals/malay/tomo-30/2/2-mabaquiao.pdf>.

Mabaquiao, Napoleon M. Jr. "Pilosophiya: Isang Pag-unawa," October 2020,
https://www.researchgate.net/publication/353274256\_PILOSOFIYA\_ISANG\_PAG-UNAWA.

Mercado, Leonardo N. Explorations in Filipino Philosophy. Logos Publications, 2023

Moga, Michael D. S.J. "The Earthly Character of Human Existence," PHAVISMINDA Journal 8 (May 2009): 19-28, https://img1.wsimg.com/blobby/go/028b0f1b-224c-45f2-944a-0a4e4bbf7b2b/downloads/1cj7b4vtv\_770785.pdf

Stapleton, Mog, and Tom Froese. "The enactive philosophy of embodiment: From biological foundations of agency to the phenomenology of subjectivity." Biology and subjectivity: Philosophical contributions to non-reductive neuroscience(2016): 113-129.

Timbreza, Florentino T. A Quest for Meaning: Philosophy Made Easy for Filipinos. New Day Publishers, 2000

Tomlin, Eric Walter Frederick. The Eastern philosophers: an introduction. Routledge, 2022.

Wang, Zhen-Dong, Yi-Meng Wang, Kang Li, Juan Shi, and Feng-Yan Wang. "The comparison of the wisdom view in Chinese and Western cultures." Current Psychology (2021): 1-12.

Williamson, Timothy. The philosophy of philosophy. John Wiley & Sons, 2021.

Wilson, John. Philosophy and practical education. Routledge, 2022.

Wrathall, Mark A. The Cambridge Companion to Heidegger's Being and Time. Cambridge University Press, 2013